Academy of Modern Etiquette

You never get a second chance to make a solid first impression. After the initial 7-second window upon meeting someone new, you really only have less than half a minute left to leave a positive impression.

The fact is, how you carry yourself, your mannerisms, the clothes you wear, what you say and don't say – all these have a real impact on your professional and personal success. In spite of the congeniality of many social settings, everything counts toward your personal statement that will or will not help you advance in life, especially appearance.

Image Flair Academy of Modern Etiquette is an acclaimed and internationally endorsed etiquette and image consulting and training agency that provides quality individual and group classes to equip children, adults and everyone in-between with good etiquette and important social skills.

With an exclusive license to deliver ICTC (International Civility Trainers' Consortium) certified certificate courses, they are the experts who train the experts – having groomed and certified many successful etiquette trainers in Singapore as well as worldwide – to help instil core values and lifelong skills so people can excel in their personal and professional lives. They also conduct corporate training as well as training workshops for educational institutions.

What's more, Image Flair Academy of Modern Etiquette believes in grooming the young to become confident adults through good social and etiquette skills. It has a subsidiary company called Etiquette Plus Academy, which holds children workshops either in small groups or individually to teach character and etiquette for children aged 3 to 12 years old. Founder Eunice Tan personally conducts the holiday workshops.

Who Needs It

From young to old, anyone who understands the power of first impressions and wants to gain confidence should give it a go.

Parents can sign their children up for social etiquette classes while attending the training themselves to develop soft skills for career advancement. Graduating students who wish to learn how to construct a positive personal image can also benefit greatly from the interactive workshops and customised training sessions.

Why We Recommend It

Studying about fashion can only get you so far, What may work better in the long run is to have trained and skilled professionals help you in areas such as colour and style analysis, make-up artistry, etiquette and grooming, as well as personal shopping and wedding social graces.

Image Flair Academy of Modern Etiquette is the only authorised affiliate in Singapore representing the leading international experts Civility Experts Worldwide. Their comprehensive curriculums are developed by leading civility experts and their panel of specialists, trend-watchers, sociologists, linguists, psychologists, professional trainers, and renowned media professionals. In other words, you're in very good hands.

Moreover, with parents from India, Shanghai, Thailand, Indonesia and Malaysia coming over to request for Ms Eunice Tan to give customised 1-1 coaching for their children on social etiquette and dining, you can bet your last dollar you are investing in nothing but the best.

And that's why it's earned itself a LiveWell Award!
